Graduation Rates & Supreme Court Decision on Death Penalty on CT-N Capitol Report: Week in Review

Hartford, CT – This Friday at 7 p.m., Connecticut Network viewers will recap a major decision from the Connecticut Supreme Court, the latest information on the state's graduation rates, and a new campaign to create manufacturing jobs on the latest episode of CT-N Capitol Report: Week in Review.

On Thursday the Connecticut Supreme Court released its decision regarding the repeal of the state's death penalty, which directly affects inmates currently on death row. Across the street at the State Capitol, Governor Dannel Malloy intensified his pitch to pass phase two of his administration's Second Chance Society initiative during another Special Session. The Governor also used this week to tout the latest information regarding Connecticut's graduation rates, which are now at an all-time high.

Capitol Report will review the Supreme Court's landmark decision, what the Governor had to say this week, and a new campaign designed to both enroll 300 students in 300 days at community colleges and grow manufacturing jobs in Connecticut
