Hartford, CT – This Friday at 7 p.m. Connecticut Network (CT-N) viewers will recap an open discussion where legislative leaders revealed where they stand on current budget proposals, Governor Malloy’s preparedness plan for families concerned about immigration enforcement, and divided committee votes regarding campaign financing on the latest episode of CT-N Capitol Report: Week in Review.

As legislators continue to review and revise Governor Malloy’s biennial budget proposal, Speaker of the House Joe Aresimowicz, House Minority Leader Themis Klarides, and the Governor’s Budget Director Ben Barnes took part in an open discussion at this week’s 2017 Public Finance Outlook Conference where they revealed where they stand on proposals affecting municipal aid, taxes and education. Meanwhile, Governor Malloy held a briefing this week where he announced the availability of a Family Preparedness Plan for undocumented parents that are concerned about immigration enforcement within the state.

Back at the Capitol, the Government Administration & Elections Committee held votes on bills concerning campaign financing and clean contracting – among other key proposals initiated by the committee this year – and the Judiciary Committee voted on bills regarding the regulation of drones, sexting, and the legal age to get married in Connecticut.

Capitol Report will also review a celebration held by the Governor, transportation officials and town & business leaders at the CTfastrak Elmwood Station in West Hartford as the bus rapid transit system marked its second year of operation.
