Youth Conversion Therapy Banned, Committee Votes on Third Casino and Budget Updates on CT-N Capitol Report: Week in Review

Hartford, CT – This Friday at 7 p.m. Connecticut Network (CT-N) viewers will recap legislative leaders' reactions to the Governor's deficit mitigation proposals, the action taken to ban the practice of youth conversion therapy in the state and two high profile bills involving a third casino and the future of the Millstone Power Station on latest episode of CT-N Capitol Report: Week in Review.

Governor Malloy began discussing how he plans to tackle the growing budget deficit this week following lower-than-expected tax income revenues. Legislative leaders reacted to his deficit mitigation proposals, while continuing to debate whether electronic highway tolls will become a part of the budget solution.

The Governor also promptly signed a bill this past week that bans the practice of conversion therapy for LGBTQ youth following the bill's passage in the State Senate. Elsewhere at the Capitol, the Appropriations Committee considered two high profile bills involving the future of the Millstone Power Station in Waterford and a possible third casino in East Windsor. Meanwhile, the Finance, Revenue & Bonding Committee debated a bill that would allow Tesla to sell vehicles directly to Connecticut residents.

Capitol Report will also review the confirmation hearings held by the Executive & Legislative Nominations Committee for Governor Malloy's nominees to head three state agencies.

Capitol Report: Week in Review summarizes the activity at the State Capitol during the week, using voice over and graphics to combine history, context, and next steps in the process with full-length excerpts from the week's proceedings. The program premieres on CT-N every Friday night at 7:00 p.m., then rebroadcasts at Noon and 7:00 p.m. on Saturdays, 8:00 p.m. on Sundays, and 6:00 a.m. Monday mornings; check CT-N's online program schedule for additional airtimes. Each episode runs between 30 and 60 minutes.
