Budget Progress Reported, Governor Looks Ahead to Autumn and a Warning on the Tick Boom on CT-N Capitol Report: Week in Review

Hartford, CT – This Friday at 7 p.m. Connecticut Network (CT-N) viewers will recap the latest in state budget negotiations as Governor Malloy looks ahead to the coming months and a warning to residents about surge in tick-borne diseases on the latest episode of CT-N Capitol Report: Week in Review.

Some progress was reported in the effort to secure a state budget agreement as a group of bipartisan legislators from the House of Representatives and State Senate met again this week to try and hammer out a deal. Meanwhile, Governor Dannel Malloy is looking ahead to the fall to see what action he may have to take if there is still no state budget in place.

Capitol Report will also review what NAACP and ACLU representatives recommended to a task force looking for ways to improve police training policies, as well as a warning from U.S. Senator Richard Blumenthal and the Connecticut Agricultural Experiment Station about a tick population boom causing a surge in tick-borne diseases.

Capitol Report: Week in Review summarizes the activity at the State Capitol during the week, using voice over and graphics to combine history, context, and next steps in the process with full-length excerpts from the week's proceedings. The program premieres on CT-N every Friday night at 7:00 p.m., then rebroadcasts at Noon and 7:00 p.m. on Saturdays, 8:00 p.m. on Sundays, and 6:00 a.m. Monday mornings; check CT-N's online program schedule for additional airtimes. Each episode runs between 30 and 60 minutes.

All episodes of Capitol Report are available online, in keeping with the network's seamless integration of telecast and interactive content. Visit www.ct-n.com/CR for OnDemand viewing, annotated with synopses and links to related gavel-to-gavel coverage.
